Community Rules

These rules keep SCP Metaverse safe and pleasant for real people. They apply in the story and outside it alike: being in a roleplay never excuses breaking them. The Disciplinary Code says what happens when they are broken, and the SCP Metaverse Charter says how to appeal.

1. Respect people

Treat every member with respect. No harassment, bullying, threats, hate speech, slurs, or attacks on anyone's race, ethnicity, nationality, religion, gender, sexuality, disability or age. Disagree with ideas, not people.

2. Keep it safe for everyone

Many members are young; Roblox players can be under 13 and Discord's minimum age is 13.

1. No sexual content of any kind, and no sexual or romantic roleplay.
2. Do not ask anyone for personal details: real name, age, address, school, photos, other accounts.
3. Adults do not pursue private contact with minors.
4. If anyone makes you uncomfortable, tell a Moderator. You will not be in trouble for reporting.

3. Horror, not gore

SCP is horror, and stories may be dark. Keep it suggestive rather than graphic: no gore, real violence, self-harm or real-world tragedy shown or described in detail. Put a content note on a post or file that may upset people. The Roblox places follow Roblox's own content rules, which are stricter.

4. Privacy

1. No doxxing: never share anyone's personal information.
2. Do not post other people's private messages or screenshots of them without their permission.
3. Do not share anything from staff-only or faction-only channels outside them.

5. No spam or advertising

No spam, chain messages, mass mentions or unsolicited DMs. No advertising other servers, games or products, except your own SCP Metaverse creations in #media.

6. Use the right place

Keep each channel to its purpose. Chat outside the story goes in Community channels; roleplay goes in roleplay channels; bugs go in #bug-reports. Mark remarks made outside the story in roleplay channels with double brackets, like this: ((brb)).

7. Be who you are

Do not impersonate the Creators, staff, other members or real people. Your display name must be readable and not offensive.

8. Play fair

No cheating, exploits, or abusing bugs in the Roblox places. Report bugs in #bug-reports instead. Do not use alternate accounts to dodge a penalty or to vote twice.

9. Credit others

Do not pass off anyone else's writing, art or builds as your own. Material from the SCP Wiki is credited as the Licensing policy requires.

10. Listen to staff

Follow staff instructions in the moment. If you think a decision is wrong, appeal it as the SCP Metaverse Charter sets out, rather than arguing in public channels.

Reporting

Report a problem by messaging any Moderator, or by using Discord's report tools. In a Roblox place, use Roblox's report button for anything that breaks Roblox's rules. In an emergency, ping @Moderator.
