Disciplinary Code

What happens when the Community Rules or the Roleplay Rules are broken. Penalties here are real, real-world measures taken by staff. They are separate from anything that happens to a character in the story.

1. Measures

From lightest to heaviest:

MEASURE	WHAT IT MEANS	WHO MAY GIVE IT
Note	A quiet word. Recorded, not counted.	Moderator, Game Master (roleplay only)
Warning	A formal warning. Counts toward escalation.	Moderator
Timeout	Cannot talk for 1 hour to 7 days.	Moderator
Role removal	Loses a faction role, rank or channel access for a set time.	Moderator
Kick	Removed from the server; may rejoin.	Moderator
Temporary ban	Removed and barred for up to 30 days.	Moderator
Permanent ban	Removed and barred for good.	Creators only

A Game Master may also pause, rewind or end a scene, which is not a penalty.

2. Usual measures

Staff choose the measure that fits the case. These are the usual starting points:

OFFENCE	FIRST TIME	AGAIN
Spam, wrong channel, minor roleplay rule	Note	Warning
Metagaming, powergaming, ignoring a pause	Warning	Timeout or role removal
Disrespect, insults, ignoring staff	Warning	Timeout
Harassment, hate speech, threats	Timeout or temporary ban	Permanent ban
Sharing private messages or staff or faction channels	Temporary ban	Permanent ban
Cheating or exploiting in a Roblox place	Temporary ban from that place	Permanent ban
Evading a penalty with another account	Permanent ban
Sexual content, grooming, doxxing	Permanent ban, reported to Discord or Roblox

3. Escalation

Three active warnings lead to a timeout; another warning after that leads to a temporary ban. Warnings expire 90 days after they were given.

4. How staff act

1. Staff explain the measure and the reason to the member, unless that would put someone at risk.
2. Every measure except a note is logged in #mod-log: who, what, why and for how long.
3. Staff never take measures in a case they are part of.
4. Removing a faction role is a real-world measure. It is not a story event, and the faction's leadership in character does not decide it.

5. Appeals

Appeal any measure within 30 days, as the SCP Metaverse Charter sets out: first to a Moderator who was not involved, then to the Creators.
